Campus-Wide Activation

This special logon can be used by up to five (5) simultaneous users. It permits unlimited, unmetered online use. The institution's primary "designated contact" will receive all information and mailings relating to this account, though we certainly hope the information will be distributed as appropriate within the institution.

Academic use is enabled by IP address authentication. Please provide us with a list of your range(s) of IP addresses. Your students can select your institution from a list of institution consortium members (see list) or access the system directly via a URL and will not need a login name or password. If you want to provide TIC access for off-campus users, be sure to include the IP address ranges assigned to them in the list you provide. If off-campus users will be connecting through a proxy server, be sure to include its IP address. Any person at a computer whose IP address falls within the specified range will log on without entering a password.
List or append a list of IP Ranges:

Under extraordinary circumstances, other options besides IP-mediated access may be available. Please contact TIC to discuss.

If your institution requires a license agreement to complete this arrangement, please contact us. We do not require one for our purposes. Please call if you have any questions about this special online arrangement and its use.
